1. Aaron and Mandy’s friends told them that they are not acting the way Americans should act. How do you think Americans who are studying abroad should interact with the culture?

2. What is something American you have tried while in the U.S.? Did it make you feel more “American”? Did you feel like you were being disloyal to your culture by trying something new?

3. If your friends wanted to try new things while in the U.S. that are different from your culture, how would that make you feel?

4. What do you think Aaron and Mandy should do?
