Based upon her experience as the Senior Vice Provost for Faculty Development and Diversity, Dr. Singer has guided University policies and practices in all areas of faculty affairs—including searches, promotions, retentions, and quality of life—with the three goals of insuring excellence, increasing accountability, and fostering measurable progress in important domains.

Dr. Singer’s talk will present six concrete strategies that institutions and individuals—both women and men—can use to support the careers of women and minority faculty.

February 22, 2016
4 p.m. – 5 p.m.
Trabant
Multi Purpose Room C

Light Reception to Follow

Sponsored by:

LESSONS LEARNED IN FOSTERING FACULTY DEVELOPMENT AND DIVERSITY

JUDITH D. SINGER, Ph.D.
Senior Vice Provost for Faculty Development and Diversity
James Bryant Conant Professor of Education
Harvard University

WOMEN in ENGINEERING

ADVANCE
This way up.

NSF Grant No. HRD-1409472