Welcome to Residence Life & Housing at the University of Delaware.

As a parent of two recent UD graduates, I know the excitement that comes with sending your student off to college. I am also well aware of the anxieties the experience can produce for both students and parents. Residence Life & Housing staff members at UD are here to help with your student’s transition to UD in their first year, and each year after.

It is our mission to actively partner with students and campus colleagues to create a once-in-a-lifetime community experience where students learn, contribute, thrive and achieve their aspirations.

If we can help you along the way as well, please feel free to be in touch via email or by calling our office. Our website offers many resources for you and your student and I encourage you to visit it.

Welcome to the UD family!

Dennis Assanis is the 28th president of the University of Delaware. He was elected to the position by the UD Board of Trustees on Nov. 18, 2015. He took office June 6, 2016, and was formally inaugurated Dec. 7, 2016.

Dr. Assanis is a distinguished educator with a wide range of academic leadership experience and a worldwide reputation as a scholar and expert in both fundamental and applied studies of internal combustion engines and energy systems.

At his inauguration, Dr. Assanis announced the five strategic goals for the University: enhancing the success of students; building an environment of inclusive excellence; investing in the institution’s intellectual and physical capital; strengthening interdisciplinary and global programs; and fostering a spirit of innovation and entrepreneurship.

Before coming to UD, Dr. Assanis served as provost and senior vice president for academic affairs at Stony Brook University and as vice president for Brookhaven National Laboratory Affairs. He previously taught and conducted research at the University of Michigan and the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Born and raised in Athens, Greece, Dr. Assanis earned his bachelor’s degree in marine engineering from Newcastle University in England (1980). At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he earned three master’s degrees: naval architecture and marine engineering (1982), mechanical engineering (1982) and management (1986). Also at MIT, he earned a Ph.D. in power and propulsion (1985).

The UD Parents Fund supports Student Life programs and activities outside the classroom—experiences that transform students and prepare them for a lifetime of success. Perkins Live, Trabant Now, the Career Services Center and first-year programming are a few of the many areas supported by gifts to the UD Parents Fund.

10 tips for supporting your new student

Suggestions to help your student survive and thrive.

1. Encourage your student to get involved.
   Research shows that college students involved in student activities are more likely to graduate.

2. Keep in touch with your student.
   Make a plan for communicating with your student to stay connected to what he or she is doing on campus. This looks different for every family, so figure out what will work best for your family.

3. Ask questions about your student’s classes and academic plan.
   Talk with your student about what’s going on in her or his classes and what he or she is interested in studying next semester. Talking regularly about academics will help your student feel supported!

4. Help your student find campus resources.
   The Office of Academic Enrichment, ae.udel.edu, offers individual and group tutoring, study skills workshops and mentoring. A broad range of other concerns can be addressed by various offices in Student Life, udel.edu/studentlife.

5. Visit campus and meet your student’s friends.
   Talk with your student about his or her expectations for college social life, and visit campus during Parents and Family Weekend to meet your student’s new friends.

6. Stay connected to UD.
   The UD Parents Facebook page provides regular updates about what’s happening on campus at facebook.com/udparents. You can also subscribe to our internal news outlet, UDaily, at udel.edu/udaily/subscribe or check out the main UD calendar at events.udel.edu. Students can find details on thousands of campus events and connect with hundreds of groups on UD’s involvement portal, studentcentral.udel.edu.

7. Check in with your student about his or her health and wellness.
   Follow up with your student about stress and time management to make sure he or she is adjusting well to new college pressures. Encourage your student to speak up about the wellness of friends/roommates when they are concerned.

8. Talk with your student about career interests.
   Encourage your student to visit the Career Services Center, udel.edu/CSC, which offers workshops, computerized testing and one-on-one consultations with staff.

9. Challenge your student to be open to new experiences.
   Stress that your student should try new things (safely) and seek to meet others from different backgrounds who might have an expanded range of interests and opinions.

10. Empower your student and offer support.
    College is a time for your student to make his or her own way, but your son or daughter will be more successful knowing that you support him or her.
The Division of Student Life's Career Services Center and the Lerner College of Business & Economics Career Services Center help students identify strengths, motivations and purpose, and translate their ambitions into opportunities through professional, educational and UD connections. Parent and familial support and encouragement can create an ideal combination for future success while empowering you to assume responsibility for your career exploration and decision-making process. The Career Services Centers provide many resources for UD students as they think about their future and navigate the career development process, including:

Connections to Internship and Job Opportunities—4,300 employers recruit students for almost 17,000 positions through on-campus interviews and CSC’s recruiting system, Handshake.

Employer Connections—Career fairs, meet-ups, networking events, information sessions, tabling and other programs provide students with hundreds of opportunities to connect with employers visiting UD’s campus throughout the academic year.

UD Alumni & Parent Connections—The UD Career Advising Network, LinkedIn, on-campus networking sessions, class presentations and discussions provide students with the opportunity to connect with alumni and parents who can offer career advice or help open doors to internships and jobs.

Career Counseling and Coaching—Career counselors provide one-on-one guidance to students exploring careers, job shadowing, pursuing internships and job opportunities and applying to graduate school.

Career Presentations—Career Services Center staff engage academic classes, first-year student seminars, student organizations and other groups in discussions on relevant career exploration and preparation topics.

Online Resources—The CSC website, Vmock, Vault, CareerShift and InterviewStream are a few of the many online resources that provide UD students with 24/7 access to relevant career preparation tools and advice.

The Career Services Centers actively engage parents and families who have an interest in directly recruiting Blue Hens for internships and jobs, connecting our centers with their human resources representatives or providing career guidance to students. Visit the “Families” section of the University Career Services Center website udel.edu/csc to learn more and get involved!
Classes begin Aug. 29, and already some students may be stressed.

Occasionally, the problem arises from trying to keep up with class work.

Living with one or more roommates also may prove to be an adjustment. Personalities may clash, and housekeeping may become an issue.

A brochure offered by the Division of Student Life’s Center for Counseling and Student Development (CCSD), A Parent’s Guide to Understanding the Transition to College, suggests parents’ best guideline is “to provide a steady, supportive home base while recognizing their student will experience ups and downs in their needs and expectations.”

Charles Beale, director of the Center for Counseling and Student Development, says that “if, at any point, a student feels a change in mood, or is struggling emotionally or academically, he or she is encouraged to take advantage of counseling services.”

As the primary mental health unit on campus, CCSD provides individual and group counseling, psychiatric services, consultation, workshops and assistance with off-campus referrals. Students can get assistance with confronting typical developmental issues and tasks, as well as counseling for emotional or psychological concerns that are interfering with their ability to be successful in their academic, personal or career pursuits.

Any student feeling anxious, depressed or overwhelmed and in need of someone to talk to can call the UD Helpline 24/7/365 to speak with a mental health professional or a sexual assault victim advocate. Helpline is available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for all UD students at 302-831-1001. Students can also make an appointment with the Center for Counseling and Student Development during business hours by calling 302-831-2141 or visiting Room 261 of Perkins Student Center.

More information, including CCSD’s policy on confidentiality, is available online at udel.edu/counseling.

As students navigate new challenges in the college environment, important decisions regarding their personal health and wellness will surely arise. Student Wellness and Health Promotion works to support healthier choices and to encourage a healthier campus environment in which to study and live. We are here to help our UD students recognize the strong connection between their wellness and their academic success. We do this by providing developmentally appropriate health information, offering life-skills development, promoting healthier living practices, advocating for healthier living spaces, conducting prevention education workshops and programs, sponsoring fun and interactive social activities, facilitating student leadership volunteer opportunities, and providing assistive resources for individuals.

Partner with us

Student Wellness and Health Promotion recognizes the strength inherent in most parental relationships, and we seek to partner with the parents of incoming students to leverage a healthier college experience for our students. In late July, parents of new students receive a letter outlining potential risks to health and safety which are common in the campus environment, and parents are also encouraged to consult our website at udel.edu/studentwellness. Additionally, parents can stay connected via periodic newsletters sent to your email inbox. Our newsletters share simple wellness strategies geared to help you support your UD student, and they provide timely, UD specific information to you. Please sign up to receive our fall and spring newsletters here: http://sites.udel.edu/studentwellness/get-involved/newsletters/.

Move-in day was...emotional. Michaela was excited. I was trying to keep a brave face. Then her mom and I checked in to the fully reimagined Hilton where we had an unbelievable dinner with drinks and unwound in the Jacuzzi. The best part? We already reserved a room for homecoming, when we get to see our baby again. Stay here to get going.

What if your student becomes sick

Student Health Services (SHS) provides a full range of primary care, treatment and referral services, as well as related health education programs. All programs and services are aimed at maintaining the physical and emotional well-being of University of Delaware students.

SHS is located in Laurel Hall, a free standing ambulatory care center on the main campus South Green area, near the intersection of South College Avenue and East Park Place. This well-equipped facility provides medical treatment and office consultation space for a variety of outpatient services, as well as an inpatient unit. Students may call 24 hours a day during the academic year.

SHS offers a variety of services including:
- Immunizations,
- Women’s health clinic,
- Sports medicine clinic,
- Dispensary (pharmaceuticals),
- Lab services and X-rays,
- Nutrition services and Healthy HENS Program; and
- Travel health.

New UD students must submit important medical documentation—the Personal and Family Medical History and Immunization Documentation forms—to Student Health Services in order to ensure the best care. These forms are available online and sent home along with New Student Orientation information in May. Detailed information about all of Student Health’s services is available at udel.edu/studenthealth and the phone number is 302-831-2226.
Sexual Misconduct: Rights and Responsibilities

The University of Delaware is committed to providing a safe and secure environment free from sexual violence and discrimination, and our policy fully upholds Title IX, a federal law that prohibits this behavior.

The University prohibits all forms of sexual misconduct, including sexual assault, sexual harassment, dating and domestic violence and stalking by anyone on University property. The University also forbids this conduct if it was in connection with a University program, could create a hostile environment for a member of the University community, poses threats or disrupts the normal functions of the University, regardless of where the activity occurred.

A student has been a victim of sexual misconduct. What should be done? There are options for getting help. For emergency help or to report the incident to police, victims or witnesses should call 911. Victims of assault are strongly encouraged to get medical assistance as soon as possible. A complaint can be filed with the University’s Title IX Coordinator at 302-831-8063 or groff@udel.edu. If the choice is made not to file a complaint, confidential support is available from the following resources: Sexual Offense Support (SOS) at 302-831-1001, Student Wellness & Health Promotion at 302-831-3457, or the Center for Counseling & Student Development at 302-831-2141.

WHAT ARE THE RIGHTS OF VICTIMS?

All UD victims of sexual misconduct are entitled to these and other rights:

◆ Deciding whether or not to file a formal complaint within the University system.
◆ Having an advocate/advisor of their choice throughout the process.
◆ Being informed of how the University will protect their privacy and confidentiality, including being advised of which campus offices will keep the matter confidential and which ones are required to report matters to the Title IX Coordinator.
◆ Being notified of available counseling, mental health, health, advocacy, legal assistance or other services, both on and off campus.
◆ Notifying or not notifying law enforcement.
◆ Getting assistance with academic, living, transportation and working situations.

WHO IS REQUIRED TO REPORT AN INCIDENT?

Under UD’s policy, any employee who is not considered a “confidential resource” has a responsibility to report sexual misconduct to the Title IX Coordinator. If students witness or learn about an alleged incident of sexual misconduct, they are encouraged to report it promptly.

Access the full policy at udel.edu/sexualmisconduct.
“She wouldn’t stop texting me after I told her to leave me alone.”

HARASSMENT

“That’s not normal; that’s harassment.”
Safety: A top priority

The University of Delaware Police Department works to create an environment where people can feel safe to learn, work, live and visit and is committed to providing quality service and protection to the entire University community.

The police department’s officers are certified by the Delaware Council on Police Training, and the department is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, the International Association of Campus Law Enforcement Administrators and by the Delaware Police Accreditation Commission.

Uniformed police officers are highly visible on the campus, with the primary goal of reducing crime. Students will see officers patrolling in cars, on bicycles and on foot. These officers patrol the campus and areas immediately adjacent 24 hours a day, seven days a week. In addition to patrol officers, the department also has a Criminal Investigations Unit, a Community Resource Unit, a Cadet program, an Emergency Care Unit, a K-9 Unit, a SWAT team, an Honor Guard, a 911 Center, and participates in joint operations with other law enforcement agencies, including the Newark Police.

The UD Police mission is to provide a collaborative approach to prevent crime, enhance safety and build trust with our stakeholders. To accomplish this mission, members of the department will deploy innovative crime reduction strategies and community policing initiatives that are focused on the safety and welfare of the public we serve. We are committed to delivering quality service, maintaining high ethical standards and fostering an atmosphere of professionalism, responsibility, integrity, dedication and excellence—pride—in our quest to become a dynamic leader in campus law enforcement.

The Division of Student Life’s Office of Student Conduct and Student Health Services, in collaboration with UD Police, prioritize student safety and encourage courageous bystanders by offering amnesty from sanctions related to the consumption of alcohol or drugs when a student seeks help for themselves or a friend from UD staff or by calling 911. The city of Newark also offers amnesty for students who seek help in a time of need while under the influence of alcohol or drugs. For more information about amnesty protocol, see the Office of Student Conduct section below or visit udel.edu/amnesty.

Students are encouraged to contribute to their own safety and the safety of the community by being aware of their surroundings and using good judgment.
SAFETY TIPS

◆ SHOW A CONFIDENT ATTITUDE and stay alert. Use common sense and take safety precautions at all times.

◆ AVOID WALKING ALONE AT NIGHT. Walk with a group, ride a UD shuttle bus or call for a free walking escort at 302-831-2222.

◆ USE CROSSWALKS AND PEDESTRIAN CROSSING SIGNALS to cross streets.

◆ KEEP DOORS OF ROOMS AND VEHICLES LOCKED.

◆ DO NOT LEND KEYS, ID OR BUILDING ACCESS CARDS to anyone. Immediately report all maintenance problems, such as broken locks and windows.

◆ IDENTIFY ALL VALUABLES, AND REGISTER these items with UD Police. This can be done in person or online.

◆ ESPECIALLY FOR WOMEN, UD Police offers Rape Aggression Defense classes. In addition, there is a comprehensive website featuring information and resources related to sexual misconduct, udel.edu/knowmore.

◆ ALCOHOL IMPAIRS JUDGMENT, so if you do choose to drink, make sure you pace yourself, eat nutritious food and hydrate with water throughout, and familiarize yourself with the signs of alcohol poisoning so that you know when you need to call 911 for yourself or for a friend. The acronym VITALS can help you recognize when someone needs to call for help (vomiting, irregular pulse, trouble breathing, abnormal skin, loss of consciousness or seizures).

◆ DO NOT WALK ON OR ALONGSIDE RAILROAD TRACKS, and only cross at designated sites, observing the warning signals.

◆ REPORT ALL SUSPICIOUS ACTIVITY. When in doubt, call 911. Timely reporting decreases crime, increases the likelihood of solving crime, prosecuting the offender and recovering stolen property.

◆ KEEP INFORMED. UD’s philosophy is to fully publicize campus-related crime to ensure the campus community is made aware of public health and safety issues. Students can download the free LiveSafe app to receive important safety notifications, to access other safety features like a virtual walking escort and to make anonymous reports of concerning behavior. News of crime incidents on or near campus, are reported on UDaily (udel.edu/udaily) and through Crime Alerts (udel.edu/udaily/subscribe.html). Statistics are available on the UD Police website (udel.edu/police).

As parents, the most important thing you can do is talk with your student about his or her personal safety and behaviors. Check in regularly with your student about all things college-related—classwork, study habits, roommates, social activities—because a well-rounded and academically focused student is less likely to get into trouble. Resist the urge to jump in your car and drive to campus to “fix” every problem that arises. College is an opportunity for students to spread their wings, learn about independence and problem-solving and mature into adult citizens. Offer support and suggestions, so your son or daughter learns how to solve and resolve situations on his or her own.

The Office of Student Conduct works closely with UD Police and Newark Police to address violations of the student Code of Conduct and potentially harmful behaviors or actions within the UD community.

Student Conduct staff and processes aim to:

- promote a campus environment that supports the overall educational mission of the University;
- protect the University community from disruption and harm;
- encourage appropriate standards of individual and group behavior; and
- foster ethical standards and engaged citizens.

The Office of Student Conduct provides programs and services that:

- develop, disseminate, interpret and enforce campus regulations;
- teach students about appropriate behavior and community membership;
- provide programs and activities that foster students’ intellectual, ethical and cultural development;
- intervene effectively when behavior violates the Code of Conduct;
- and offer educational and leadership opportunities for students who participate in the operation of the Student Conduct System.

Students are responsible for reading, understanding and knowing the Code of Conduct, found at udel.edu/stuguide or on Student Conduct’s website.
MEDICAL AMNESTY/GOOD SAMARITAN PROTOCOL: If assistance is sought due to a serious and immediate risk from the consumption or use of alcohol or drugs, the Office of Student Conduct will not pursue conduct charges against a student for violations of the alcohol policy, drug policy or policies related to the consumption or use of alcohol or drugs. Additionally, those students who actively assist an individual under the influence of alcohol or drugs will not receive conduct charges for violations of the alcohol policy, drug policy or policies related to the use or consumption of alcohol or drugs. Further information is available at udel.edu/amnesty.

For more information about Student Conduct, call 302-831-2117 or visit udel.edu/studentconduct.

Stay informed in an emergency

UD Alert is the text, voice and email emergency messaging tool that the University will use to notify members of the campus community of an emergency.

Students can update their emergency contact information at any time through UDSIS. The person designated as a student’s primary emergency contact will also receive notification if something happens to a student and/or an emergency occurs on campus, so it is important that this information is kept current.

A student’s emergency contacts also may receive notifications during emergency alert system tests.

The University of Delaware has other tools besides UD Alert to notify students:

- Free LiveSafe app for your smartphone
- University home page
- University email system

For more information about UD Alert, visit udel.edu/alert.
On-campus dining

The University of Delaware Dining team is dedicated to delivering fresh ingredients, a variety of healthy and delicious meal options and a superior level of service. Our diverse selection of dining venues provide a comfortable place for students to eat, study and relax with friends. We look forward to the opportunity to serve you.

RESIDENTIAL DINING HALLS
Our three all-you-care-to-eat locations provide unlimited variety: Pencader Dining Hall, newly renovated Russell Dining Hall and the Caesar Rodney Fresh Food Company
• Vegetarian, vegan, gluten-free and kosher friendly, along with many other nutritious choices
• Convenient, continuous hours, to-go options and late night hours

CONVENIENCE STORES, FOOD COURTS & COFFEE
• The Scrounge in Perkins Student Center and the Trabant Food Court feature different eateries serving breakfast, lunch, dinner and snacks
• Our P.O.D. Markets & Express locations provide quick snacks, school supplies or household essentials

ASK A DIETITIAN
UD Dining works hard to accommodate students with dietary restrictions due to food allergies or intolerances. Please contact our registered dietitian, Debbi Miller, at 302-831-1008 or by email at dml@udel.edu, for one-on-one consultations and to learn more about dining options.
Guide to student dining

MEALS, POINTS AND GUEST MEALS

Meals: To be used for entry into any of our three all-you-care-to-eat residential dining halls: The Rodney Fresh Food Company, Russell Dining Hall and Pencader Dining Hall.

Points: To be used in retail dining locations including food courts, markets, coffee shops and more. Points are deducted like money from a debit card: on a penny-for-penny, dollar-for-dollar basis. Points carry over from fall to spring semesters, and additional points can be added at any point throughout the semester.

Guest Meals: These complimentary passes give students the opportunity to treat family and friends to an all-you-care-to-eat meal in one of our residential dining halls. Students can also use guest meals for themselves should they run out of meals.

RESIDENT MEAL PLAN OPTIONS

Unlimited Meal Plan: Offers students UNLIMITED access to come and go as they please at any of the three on-campus residential dining halls during normal operating hours. Students on this plan are allowed unlimited swipes per meal period.

12 Weekly Plan: Offers students 12 meals to use throughout the week. Meals reset to 12 every Sunday morning but will not roll over from week to week. Students on this plan are allowed one meal swipe per meal period.

155 Block Plan: Offers students 155 meals to use throughout the entire semester at students’ discretion. Students on this plan must budget meals effectively to avoid running out of meals or having too many left at the end of the semester. Students on this plan are allowed one meal swipe per meal period.

“PLUS” Plans: “PLUS” upgrades increase students’ balance of points with a 10 percent bonus in points. Students can add a “PLUS” or “Double PLUS” upgrade to any of the three meal plan options listed above.

The University of Delaware pioneered the concept of study abroad among U.S. educational institutions over 90 years ago. Today UD offers a wealth of wide-ranging opportunities for students at locations around the globe.

During each academic year, just about one of every three UD students studies abroad. UD has received the Andrew Heiskell Award for Innovation in International Education from the Institute for International Education and is also a 2015 recipient of the Senator Paul Simon Award for Campus Internationalization.

UD’s long tradition in study abroad began when Raymond Kirkbride, a French language professor, took eight students to France in 1923 for the inaugural “junior year abroad.”

Today, study abroad is much more varied. Some programs immerse students in a language and culture for a full semester or academic year, while others have no language requirement as well as a shorter time commitment.

In the shorter winter and summer programs, students usually travel with UD faculty directors and take standard UD courses for graded credit, meeting regularly during the time abroad and interacting with local businesses, flora and fauna, or community leaders—all depending on the academic goals of the program.

The keys to a successful program are a strong academic base, enough free time for students to explore on their own, excursions related to the academic component of the program and also to the local culture, and an engaged faculty.

Regardless of the type or length of the program, students frequently mention the experience as a highlight of their undergraduate years, citing educational value, a broader understanding of the world, meaningful connections to the local population, and lifelong friendships formed with their traveling companions.

To learn more about study abroad at UD, visit udel.edu/global.
There’s a lot to do at UD

PARENTS & FAMILY WEEKEND

Mark your calendars and join your student and the UD community at Parents and Family Weekend, scheduled Oct. 13-15 this year. Many events, open houses and family activities are offered campus wide, including live Friday night entertainment; “Major Mania,” an interactive major fair on Friday afternoon that provides an opportunity for you and your students to connect with faculty and professional staff; a Saturday afternoon tailgate in the Bob Carpenter Center; and, of course, a Blue Hen football game! For current information about dates, ticketing, events, lodging and more, please visit the Parents and Family Weekend website: udel.edu/pfw/

Also be sure to check UDaily, udel.edu/udaily, or @UD, online at events.udel.edu, for events that might be scheduled during the time of your visit. You can also check out Downtown Newark’s events at enjoydowntownnewark.com/.

CAMPUS GALLERIES

The Old College Gallery has two large rooms and highlights works from the University’s permanent collection, as well as traveling and loan exhibitions. The collection encompasses more than 10,000 objects, artworks and artifacts with particular strengths in vintage and contemporary photography, Pre-Columbian and Southwest Native American ceramics and American prints and drawings from the 19th century to the present.

Mechanical Hall is the home of the Paul R. Jones Collection of African American Art, a major gift from the late Atlanta art collector Jones and other donors to UD.

The gallery in Mechanical Hall offers changing exhibitions of African American art and related topics. In addition to gallery space, the building houses a print room for the use of those studying objects in the collection. Built in 1898, Mechanical Hall is on the National Register of Historic Places.

The Mineralogical Museum, located in Penny Hall on Academy Street, originated with the gift of the Irénée du Pont Sr. collection in 1964. Since then, it has grown to encompass specimens gifted or made possible by many generous donors, including Mrs. David Craven, Alvin B. Stiles and Frederick Keidel. The museum focuses on individual displays that illustrate particular mineralogical concepts or themes. These include gem minerals from the du Pont collection mined in the early 20th century, as well as more recent finds of minerals from North America. Newly installed display cabinets with fiber optic lighting provide accurate color balance for specimens from the wire silvers to the vivid orange wulfenites. For more information, visit udel.edu/museums.

UD BOTANIC GARDENS

UD Botanic Gardens are located outside Townsend Hall, home to the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources, on the south end of the Newark campus. The gardens include the Clark Garden, the Dunham Entrance Garden, the Fischer Greenhouse Laboratory/Garden, the Herbaceous Garden, the Landscape Color Trial Garden, the Native Garden Lepidoptera Trail, the South Greenhouse Home Garden Plant List, the Townsend Hall Collection and the Worrilow Hall Garden.

For more information, visit ag.udel.edu/udbg.

HIKING AND BIKING

Hiking trails in Newark offer an opportunity to stretch your legs and enjoy the city and its surroundings. The James H. Hall Trail (1.76 miles) goes from Phillips Park to Lewis and Kells parks to Library Avenue, much of it paralleling the Amtrak train line. It is lighted and open 24 hours. The Newark Reservoir walk (1 mile) circles Newark Reservoir to the north of the city and gives an overall view of Newark. White Clay Creek Park, north of Newark, offers many opportunities for walking and hiking.

The 2.0-mile Pomeroy and Newark Rail Trail connects with the James F. Hall Trail and will lead you to Main Street, Cleveland Avenue and onto Laird Campus. The trail is lighted and open 24 hours. If mountain biking is your interest, the Redd Park trail system has 2.47 miles of natural surface mountain biking/hiking trails to enjoy. For a complete listing of the city of Newark Parks and Trails, visit http://gis.cityofnewarkde.us/gis/parks.

ICE SKATING

Ice skating at UD’s Ice Arenas is a fun activity for the whole family. Public skating sessions are regularly scheduled on weekends. For the current schedule and admission and skate rental fees, visit udel.edu/icearena.

For information on other attractions and events in the region, visit the Greater Wilmington Convention & Visitors Bureau online at visitwilmingtonde.com/.
BANKING

PNC Bank is on campus! PNC Bank helps make it easier for University of Delaware students to keep track of their money. PNC has convenient on-campus locations, with 14 ATMs and a branch located in the Trabant University Center. Show your school pride with your University of Delaware/PNC branded Visa® Debit Card when you open a PNC Virtual Wallet Student® account, an innovative product providing interactive tools to help students develop solid money management skills.

To learn more about the campus banking program, please see a PNC representative at the Trabant University Center branch or visit us online at pnc.com/ud.

DISABILITY SUPPORT SERVICES

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, as amended in 2008, and the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the University of Delaware is committed to providing equal access for students, employees and visitors with a disability. The Office of Disability Support Services (DSS) provides reasonable accommodations and ensures equal access to University programs and services. The DSS office works with individuals who have physical, medical and psychological disabilities, as well as learning disabilities and ADHD.

Anyone requesting an accommodation from the University based on a disability should contact the DSS office directly. It is the individual’s responsibility to inform the DSS office of the disability and need for accommodation. The need for reasonable accommodation is determined on a case-by-case basis when supported by information supplied by the individual. More information is available by calling 302-831-4643 or visiting udel.edu/DSS/.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGIES

Information Technologies (IT) provides the University with a robust technology environment that allows students, faculty and staff to pursue academic studies and conduct the business of campus life easily and effectively.

IT provides email, calendaring, website creation and chat through Google Apps for Education. If students encounter any difficulties with technology, the IT Support Center is available from 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday through Friday, to answer technology-related questions.

Questions can be submitted by phone, email or through an online form. Self-service support is available 24/7 through documentation available at udel.edu/help/. Call 302-831-6000 or visit it.udel.edu/ for specific information.
LIBRARY

The University of Delaware has a great library that continues to evolve based on user feedback and student needs. The collections include over 2.8 million books and bound periodicals plus over 420,000 electronic books and over 70,000 electronic journals. Librarians are always ready to assist students navigating these resources for their research projects. The library is a major study hub for students on campus, open over 110 hours per week and providing seating for more than 2,500 people. The library’s Student Multimedia Design Center, which provides software, equipment, and support for multimedia creation, is the largest such facility in an academic research library in the nation.

PARKING AND TRANSPORTATION

Parking Services at the University of Delaware is designed to provide students, faculty, staff and visitors with adequate, accessible and well maintained parking facilities. To preserve the beauty of the Newark campus and its environment, carpooling and other incentives are offered to reduce the number of single occupant vehicles driven to the University. Faculty, staff, students and visitors must register with Parking Services when parking on University property, excluding pay-to-park lots and metered spaces.

Visit udel.edu/transportation parking for more information regarding specific parking regulations and permit details.

Additionally, the University provides multiple shuttle bus routes that serve all areas of campus from the early morning to late evening and on the weekends. This service is free for students. There are also regional and local transportation options through DART, SEPTA, AMTRAK, and MegaBus. Visit udel.edu/transportation for more details.

STUDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES

Student Financial Services’ (SFS) mission is to facilitate educational access and foster student success by helping students and families pay for a UD education. SFS strives to provide both personal and online services in an accessible and seamless manner. SFS administers financial aid and scholarships, coordinates tuition billing and payment, and provides online services through My Finances. While your student is at UD, you can access a variety of information about tuition, fees, billing, and financial aid at the SFS website: udel.edu/sfs.

(Note that students must grant access to My Finances to any parents/guardians or other authorized bill payers.)

The University of Delaware has a long and storied tradition of excellence in varsity athletics, club sports, intramurals and recreation.

The spirit of the Fightin’ Blue Hens is legendary—dating from the courage and ferocity of the Delaware regiment that fought for the birth of our nation in the Revolutionary War.

That spirit permeates the UD campus today, in intercollegiate athletics programs, club sports and varied intramural and recreational opportunities.

The UD field hockey team won The 2018 NCAA Division I Championship and the football team has won six national championships, the most recent in 2003, and has been runner-up five times, the most recent in the 2010-11 season.

Three consecutive UD football coaches—Bill Murray, Dave Nelson and Tubby Raymond—were inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

In 2014, the men’s basketball team won the Colonial Athletic Association championship and advanced to the NCAA Tournament. That followed a 2013 CAA championship and a run to the NCAA semifinals by the women’s basketball team.

UD athletes who have recently gone on to national prominence include Baltimore Ravens quarterback Joe Flacco and WNBA star Elena Delle Donne.

Student Life promotes success in and out of the classroom

Made up of 11 departments and under the direction of Vice President Dawn Thompson, the Division of Student Life contributes and facilitates critical learning and development within healthy, inclusive and supportive communities so that all students may succeed at UD and beyond. Student Life works to inspire every student to become a thriving individual, able to enrich their communities and make vibrant contributions to society as an engaged citizen, inclusive leader and lifelong learner.

By engaging with divisional opportunities, students are able to explore self-discovery and development, personal wellness, social responsibility, and inclusivity and action. Our work includes formal and informal student involvement and professional development opportunities, intimate to large-scale campus programming, and collaborative campus-wide work in student areas such as diversity and inclusion, mental health, prevention of alcohol and other drug abuse, and behavior consultation.

To learn more about Student Life, contact the division at 302-831-8939 or visit udel.edu/studentlife.

The UDairy Creamery store also offers other products from the college’s farm, including produce, honey, angus burgers and yarn and blankets made with wool from UD’s flock of sheep.

The UDairy Creamery, established in 2008, produces premium ice cream made with the milk from the cows on the farm at the University of Delaware College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. Founded on science, sustainability and entrepreneurship, the Creamery encourages discovery learning, with University students involved in every aspect of making and selling ice cream “from the cow to the cone.”

FIRST YEAR EXPERIENCE

The First Year Experience (FYE) is your student’s first step in an exciting educational journey that will help him or her find a place at the University of Delaware and build strong social and academic foundations.

FYE spans your student’s entire first year on campus, and several highlights include:

• Common Reader—The shared common reader is read before arriving on campus, with speakers, films and other cultural events organized around the theme of the book throughout the first semester. The Underground Railroad, by Colson Whitehead, has been selected as the University of Delaware’s 2017 First Year Common Reader.

• 1743 Welcome Days—During 1743 Welcome Days, students will connect with the UD community, explore UD’s offerings and consider how they will contribute to the campus community. This year, 1743 will be held Aug. 26-28. Visit the 1743 Welcome Days website for a list of events happening the first two weeks of classes! udel.edu/fye/1743.

• First Year Seminar—The First Year Seminar will help your student adjust to college life and provide a unique learning experience. Students will have the opportunity to explore the University of Delaware and learn about those things that are vital to their success. fys.udel.edu/
STUDENT INVOLVEMENT

Research shows that the more students are involved in college, the more success and personal development they will experience. As parents, you have the ability to influence and encourage your student to become involved in the many different activities and experiences UD has to offer.

StUDent Central—studentcentral.udel.edu—is the University Student Centers’ interactive online portal to help students get involved on campus. StUDent Central is the best way to connect with 300+ student groups, get the details on thousands of campus events and document involvement for use in a professional portfolio. All students can log into StUDent Central using their UDNe?net IDs and passwords.

All Registered Student Organizations (RSOs) and Greek chapters can be found on the StUDent Central portal. Groups are organized by category: Co-Curricular, Community Service, Event Programming, Fraternities and Sororities, Government, Honor Societies, Media, Multicultural, Performing, Political, Recreational, Religious and Special Interest.

Approximately 20 percent of students become involved in Greek Life at UD. The Division of Student Life’s University Student Centers recognizes more than 40 Greek chapters in a variety of categories, including Panhellenic sororities, National Inter-Fraternal Council (IFC) fraternities, Special Interest academic chapters and Multicultural Greek Congress culturally based chapters. 302-831-0456, udel.edu/greek

The Blue Hen Leadership Program (BHLP) is a multi-tiered student leadership development program that also includes QUEST, a pre-opening fall leadership experience for first-year students. BHLP is open to all students and is particularly useful for members of RSOs, Greek chapters/councils and Athletics, as the program assists in the transition of extracurricular experiences into marketable job traits. New students can apply for QUEST in early June. 302-831-0091, udel.edu/bhlp.
For students interested in multicultural organizations, the Center for Black Culture works to support and enhance cultural diversity on campus and in the surrounding community by overseeing student groups such as the Black Student Union, Cultural Programming Advisory Board and others, in addition to offering a variety of programs that encourage an appreciation and understanding of the diverse cultures in the African Diaspora. The center also provides a supportive environment for students, and serves as an informational resource center for a range of University and community constituents. 302-831-2991, udel.edu/CBC.

LIVING ON CAMPUS

The residence halls at the University of Delaware are home to diverse, inclusive communities with 7,500 freshman, transfer, upper division and international students. Here at Residence Life and Housing, we believe the University is a student’s home away from home, and living on campus is an integral part of the college experience. We encourage our sophomores to live on campus, and many of our students remain in the halls all four years, staying connected to all that UD has to offer.

A team of more than 200 resident assistants is carefully selected and trained to work with students on all aspects of in-hall and academic life; our RAs are an essential part in the creation and maintaining of living environments that are conducive to academic, personal and community engagement. Residents have opportunities to create in-hall programming through our Student Initiative Fund; learn about themselves, differences in people, ideas, cultures, and opinions to become global citizens; and develop friendships and communities that will last a lifetime.

All family members are partners in our efforts to provide service, support and educational experiences to students. We pride ourselves in our ability to help students, and we enjoy hearing from families on areas of concern, growth and more.

We are invested in the experience of your student and invite you to work with our office. Residence Life and Housing can be contacted at 302-831-HOME (4663) or by visiting udel.edu/reslife.

UD’s rich history

One of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States, the University of Delaware traces its roots to 1743 when a petition by the Presbytery of Lewes, Del., expressing the need for an educated clergy, led the Rev. Dr. Francis Alison to open a small school in New London, Pa.

On Nov. 24, 1743, Benjamin Franklin’s Pennsylvania Gazette carried this brief announcement:

“We are informed that there is a Free-School opened at the House of Mr. Alison in Chester County, for the Promotion of Learning, where all Persons may be instructed in the Languages and some other Parts of Polite Literature, without any Expences for their Education.”

Alison’s first class “was a most remarkable one, possibly the most distinguished in terms of the later achievements of its members, taken as a whole, of any class in any school in America,” wrote UD historian John Munroe in The University of Delaware: A History.

The students would go on to become statesmen, doctors, merchants and scholars. Of special note, Thomas McKean, George Read and James Smith would sign the Declaration of Independence; Read also would sign the U.S. Constitution.

By 1765, Alison’s school had relocated to Newark, Del., where it received a charter as the Academy of Newark from Thomas and Richard Penn in 1769. During the Revolution, the invading British army seized the academy’s treasures and its records.

NewArk College opened as a degree-granting institution in 1834 with the opening of its first building, now called Old College. In 1843, the name was changed to Delaware College. The federal Land-Grant College Act of 1862 gave Delaware College new life, and in 1867, Delaware’s General Assembly designated Delaware College as the land-grant college of Delaware.

In 1914, a Women’s College was opened with an enrollment of 58 students, and in 1921, the two coordinate colleges were officially named the University of Delaware.

Since 1950, UD has quadrupled its enrollment and greatly expanded its faculty, the scope of its educational and research endeavors, its physical plant and its influence in the world.

The University of Delaware looks to a future that will engage the critical issues of the day and increase its global impact, while building on the dreams and aspirations of the institution’s builders and graduates.

UD traditions and fun facts

The faculty chose the colors of blue and gold in 1889. They represent the official colors of the state of Delaware, as well as the colors of General George Washington’s uniform—colonial blue with the coat of arms in a buff colored diamond. UD was the first institution in the country to begin a study abroad program, which started 1923.

YoUDee is a National Mascot Champion and a member of the Mascot Hall of Fame.

The “Kissing Arches” are the brick structures on either side of Memorial Hall. They used to serve as the separation between the men’s and women’s campuses, and are where couples had to say goodbye and part ways.

UD’s College of Earth, Ocean, & Environment has its own ship and wind turbine. The Research Vessel Hugh L. Sharp is docked at the Lewes campus, and the nearby 400-foot-tall wind turbine provides energy for the whole 350-acre southern Delaware campus.

The touchscreen technology used in iPhones, iPads and other products was originally developed by a UD alum.

Each year, the University hosts Alumni Weekend. Former students return to campus one week after graduation to celebrate on The Green, reunite with old friends, stay on campus in the residence halls and attend various events sponsored by colleges and academic departments.

There are three buildings named DuPont: P.S. duPont, Lammot duPont and Amy duPont. There are two buildings named Brown and three buildings named Sharp on campus. There are also two Smiths and a Smyth.

The decorative garland on the front of Wolf Hall spells the word “Mom,” reminding students to stay in touch with their parents throughout the year.

Every spring, the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources hosts Ag Day, a community event that includes educational exhibits, games, livestock displays, music, fun and food.

Each year since 2007, students have participated in UDance, a philanthropy event that benefits the B+ Foundation and fights childhood cancer. In 2017, UDance raised over $1.89 million in donations.

Many of these traditions are part of the UD Bucket List created with input from students and alumni by the UD Student Alumni Ambassadors and the Office of Development and Alumni Relations. The UD Bucket list is a collection of 60 items all Blue Hens are encouraged to complete to share traditions, stay connected and to build a common bond as Blue Hens Forever. See sites.udel.edu/bucketlist/.

Off-campus housing is for upper division students only. Single freshmen under 21 are required to live in University housing or at home with a parent or legal guardian if the residence is within a 30-mile commuting distance.
In the early 1700s, Scot-Irish and Welsh settlers began to build a small community at the base of the Pennsylvania and Maryland foothills, where the Christina and White Clay creeks turn eastward toward the Delaware River. They chose this location because the water in the creeks flowed fast enough to turn the waterwheels of the small mills they built to grind wheat and corn and to cut wood. Rich soil meant that wheat and corn for the mills grew in abundance. The settlers built a small factory to turn iron ore, which was found nearby, into iron. The crossroads of the village, named Newark, followed the routes of old Indian and fur-traders’ paths and served as the road to market for farmers.

In 1758, Newark received a charter from the King of England, and the city was officially established. Newark grew slowly during the Colonial period and after the American Revolution. The town served as a market and milling center for local farmers and small craftsmen. A railroad line came to Newark in 1837, connecting local markets to Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York. Newark became home to a number of manufacturing facilities and the city grew quite rapidly in the 1920s as shops and businesses opened to serve the new industries.

The city of Newark also experienced significant growth during World War II and the early 1950s. In 1951, the Chrysler Corp. constructed a major assembly plant across from the University’s South Campus. After the closing of the Chrysler plant, this property was acquired by the University and is now the Science, Technology and Advanced Research (STAR) Campus.

In 2010, Newark’s population numbered 31,454.

In 2011, Newark was named one of the most fun and affordable cities in the U.S. and also received a Great American Main Street Award.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

The University of Delaware has received the Community Engagement classification from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching in recognition of its deep commitment to working with community partners to address societal issues and contribute to the public good.

Community-based experiences are woven into UD’s teaching, research and service activities and are critical to the education of students as civic-minded, engaged citizens.

UD is one of 240 U.S. colleges and universities to receive the 2015 designation. The University of Delaware also was recently named to the President’s Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll.

STREAM TV WITH COMCAST XTV SERVICE

University of Delaware Residence Life and Housing offers students Comcast’s XFINITY TVTM (XTV) as part of XFINITY On Campus™, a television service that provides students with convenient ways to watch live TV and on demand content.

In addition to Comcast’s Digital Preferred package, which includes traditional cable connection service with access to over 100 channels, residence hall students also have access to XTV, an Internet TV (IPTV) service from Comcast that delivers live streaming TV of more than 200 channels and thousands of XFINITY On Demand™ shows and movies directly to students’ laptops, desktop computers and select Apple and Android devices. The XTV player lets students view live, high definition channels from their computers, tablets and smartphones while connected anywhere on the campus network.

This service also allows students in University residence halls to optionally upgrade to a selection of on demand premium channels over the Internet. While off campus, students can use their University credentials on the web or in mobile apps to access selected online programming from their purchased premium channels.

1. Go to xfinityoncampus.com.
2. Type “University of Delaware” in the search box
3. Follow the login instructions and start watching.

Residence hall students can also download the Comcast XTV player from the Apple App Store or Google Play.

The XFINITY On Campus service is available to all UD residence hall students at no additional cost. For information on channel availability, see Comcast’s channel lineup page: xfinityoncampus.com/channels.
In response to a student-led initiative to promote a healthy campus environment, the University of Delaware became tobacco-free in 2014. All tobacco products—smoking and snuff, as well as the emerging e-cigarettes—are prohibited on University property to ensure a “Tobacco-Free UD.”

The policy, which applies to UD campuses in Newark, Wilmington, Dover, Georgetown and Lewes, is designed to promote a healthy and safe environment for students, faculty, staff and guests. The policy was initiated and recommended by the University’s Student Government Association and supported by the Graduate Student Government.

For those in need of assistance, the University offers tobacco-cessation programs. Students can seek support through Student Wellness and Health Promotion at 302-831-3457.

Members of the University community can download a free smartphone safety app designed to help prevent crime and enable individuals to respond better to incidents, making everyone even safer while at school.

The LiveSafe app modernizes communication between the campus community and safety officials by leveraging key components of smartphone technology, including GPS-location, camera and text capabilities. It allows UD students, faculty and staff to directly and seamlessly contact the University of Delaware Police Department for a range of safety issues.

The free app’s core features include quick tip submittal via text with picture and video attachments (including the option to stay anonymous), live chat with UD Police, quick access to emergency phone numbers that initiate location tracking when dialed, a comprehensive safety map that pinpoints incidents on or near campus, and peer-to-peer location monitoring with a concurrent group chat feature called SafeWalk.

“The LiveSafe app is an excellent tool that will empower all individuals in our community to help maintain a safe campus,” said Patrick Ogden, chief of the UD Police Department. “We are committed to providing our students with the best tools and technology to enhance their safety. Students are now able to have a virtual blue light emergency phone in their pocket with the LiveSafe app.”

LiveSafe is available to the University of Delaware community to download for free on iPhone and Android devices. The app can be downloaded at iTunes or Google Play.

UNIVERSITY STUDIES

The mission of the University Studies (UST) program is to enhance and support the educational experiences of matriculated students who have a wide variety of interests and have either not yet declared a major or are in transition from one major to another. The program’s goal is to ensure that your student is given the opportunity to explore the many majors available to him or her before choosing an academic path.

Your student’s academic adviser and the staff of the UST program are committed to your student’s academic success. They will do their best to provide your student with the accurate information he or she needs to help make important decisions about his or her academic interests and goals.
