Division of Student Life
Impact Report: Fall 2017

UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

Enhancing student success and building an environment of inclusive excellence

Following 1743 Welcome Days, the University Student Centers' Fall Activities Night gave 3,683 students the opportunity to meet other students from 326 registered student organizations of many types:

Data sources: sign-ups and door trackers for Perkins and Trabant, presented as an average of the traffic through both buildings from 6-9 p.m.

Students can connect year-round with all RSOs and chartered Greek organizations at studentcentral.udel.edu, the USC's interactive involvement portal which advertises thousands of events each year.

Perkins Live and Trabant Now late night programs have continued in fall 2017. Last spring, at least 1,495 students attended a Perkins Live (6-wk) or Trabant Now (4-wk) program. As a result of attending:

- feel a sense of belonging in the UD community — 85%
- identified other campus activities at which alcohol is not served — 79%
- identified other campus activities to become involved in while at UD — 63%
- identified student groups to join while at UD — 56%
- had conversations with people from different cultural backgrounds — 61%

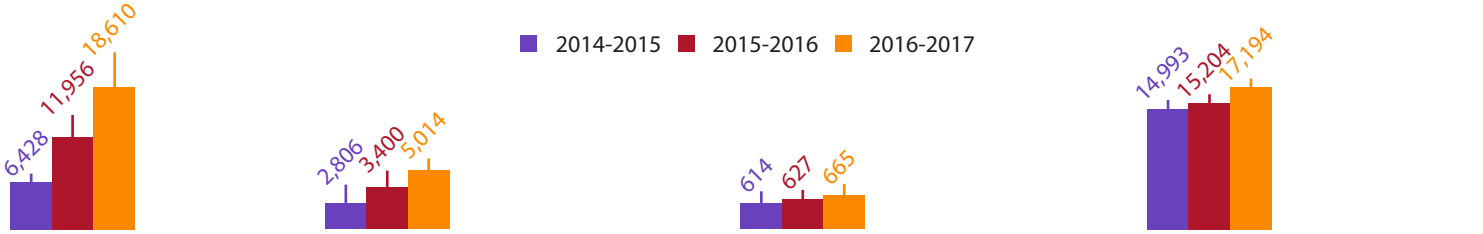
Among undergraduate students who acknowledged past alcohol consumption, 78% reported having zero drinks prior to attending Perkins Live (Fridays) and Trabant Now (Saturdays), and 74% reported having zero drinks afterward.
Data source: PL | TN Spring 2017survey, n=313 / 21% of those who chose to swipe their ID in entry. Strongly/Moderately Agree responses combined.

The Center for Black Culture's Each One Reach One mentor program provided 95 first-year Black students with an upper-class peer mentor to guide them in their first year of life at UD in 2016-2017. As a result of participating:

- 100% of mentors believe they have a responsibility to give back to the community
- 61% of mentees feel that EORO helped them adjust socially to UD
- 89% of mentors believe they are skilled in helping their mentees acquire campus resources
- 83% of mentees feel a sense of belonging in the UD community
- 74% of mentors feel a sense of belonging in the UD community

Data source: EORO 2016-2017 end-of-year evaluation, n=54 out of 95 mentees (57%) and 35 of 43 mentors (81%). Strongly/Agree responses combined.

UD Career Advising Network, an advising platform launched through Career Services Center in fall 2016, has gained accounts from 1,382 student/alumni advisees and 1,546 alumni/parent advisors. Employer-student engagement has also grown:



Data source: CSC records.

For more details on these efforts, visit sites.udel.edu/studentlife/work